Logging in to your website on the staging server

Complexity Level: Intermediate

The is an intermediate topic. You will need to possess some basic understanding and have some experience with Drupal content editing.

Permission Level
Level 2 or Higher - See permission level document for details

Overview

This page will help you as unit administrator or member of your unit's web committee to log into the staging server. The staging server contains a near identical copy of your live website where you can play around and make any changes that won't be reflected on the live website. You can use this to practice, learn, and make as many changes as you'd like until you feel comfortable enough to apply them on your live website.

Table of contents

- Overview
- Table of contents
- Logging in to the staging server
  - Step 1: Log in into your LIVE website
  - Step 2: Click on the 'prod' tab
  - Step 3: Click on 'Open in: Stage'
- Accessing the live website from your staging website
  - Step 1: Click on the "staging" tab
  - Step 2: Click on 'Open in: prod"

Logging in to the staging server

Step 1: Log in into your LIVE website

Follow the steps detailed in the 'Drupal 9 - Logging into your site' guide in order to log into your live website.

Step 2: Click on the 'prod' tab

Once you log into your live website, click on the 'prod' tab. That should reveal two options: 'Open in: prod', and 'Open in: stage'.

Step 3: Click on 'Open in: Stage'

And now you're in your staging website! Notice how the administration menu is now maroon and white. The word "staging" should also be visible on the administration menu.
If you cannot access your staging site but know that you should be able to, please put in a ticket to the Franklin OIT Helpdesk via helpdesk.franklin.uga.edu.

Accessing the live website from your staging website

If you're done working on stage, and you want to access your live website, you don't have to type in the URL for it. You can easily access your live website from staging. Note: None of the changes you made in your staging website will appear in your live website! You need to make the same changes in the live website for them to show up!

Step 1: Click on the "staging" tab
That will make the options below appear.

Step 2: Click on 'Open in: prod"
And now you're in your live website! Notice how the administration menu is now black and white.