Understanding the RIF system of endogenous metabolite stress. My laboratory directed a new stress system that is concerned across all domains. We showed that these metabolites, which are necessary intermediates in some P450-dependent reactions, are able to damage cellular components. The RIF protein family is responsible for detoxifying the enzymes to generate stable toxic products. These findings have opened an exciting new field of study in the lab. Immediate questions include: which enzymes generate anisotropy stressors? Which enzymes are targets of the damage? What is the specificity of RIF homologs? What are the biochemical consequences of lacking RIF in various organisms? This project has not only defined a new stress and cellular response to it, but has implications for our understanding of the composition and characteristics of the cellular milieu.

Standard Image Size:

- Cropping ratio - For Spotlight: 3 x 2
- Cropping ratio - Square for the directory and within content (shown above): 1:1
- Minimum: 320 pixels wide by 320 pixels high
- Maximum: 860 pixels wide by 860 pixels high
- Any image uploaded that is at least 325 pixels wide by 325 pixels high can be cropped after uploading to the 3 x 2 ratio for Spotlights or the 1:1 Square ratio.

Basic Pages (and all content types with a text editor field)

The Criminal Justice Studies Program offers an interdisciplinary academic program of study. Core and elective courses are taught by faculty in both online and campus, particularly those that focus on social science. Required courses, including those associated with internship supervision, are taught by faculty in political science and sociology. The Program prepares students for graduate school in criminology, criminal justice, other social science disciplines, and other related professional degree programs, such as law, social work, and public administration. Alumni have gone on to positions in law enforcement, corrections, probation, juvenile justice, corporate security, social services, judicial administration, and other government agencies, including military service.

Basic pages, and all content types with a text editor field (as in the screenshot below), have the ability to insert images.

Standard Image Size:

- Cropping ratio - does not apply
- Cropping ratio - does not apply
- Minimum: no minimum
- Maximum: 860 pixels wide by 860 pixels high (full width of content column)
  - If you insert an image larger than 860 pixels, Drupal will automatically crop the image.
  - Excessively large images—usually greater than 2000 or 3000 pixels—have been known to “white-screen” the page when Drupal attempts to crop. You may want to process and pre-crop some images, especially if they are straight from a camera or mobile phone.

A note on captions and alignment

If you make use of the caption feature, it will change your image based on how it is aligned.
It is recommended that you choose an alignment when using captions.

You’ll have the option to use captions when you insert an image. Notice the checkbox for captions toward the bottom of the screen:

Beneath the image, you’ll see a place to add a caption:

```
Enter caption here

I have added the text: "Professor Susan Haire teaching her research methods during a criminal justice class in one of the classrooms in Candler Hall."

Here’s how the edit screen looks after I have added my caption.

After I save my content, the captioned image will take on a certain form based on how I have chosen to align it.

Right or Left Alignment: the image will be 50 percent of column width.
The Criminal Justice Studies Program

The Criminal Justice Studies Program offers an interdisciplinary academic program of study. Core and elective courses are taught by faculty in arts across campus, particularly those that focus on social science. Required courses, including those associated with interdisciplinary supervision, are taught by faculty in political science and sociology. The program prepares students for graduate school in criminology, criminal justice, other social science disciplines, and other related professional degree programs, such as law, social work, and public administration. Among core courses are positions in law enforcement, corrections, probation, juvenile justice, corporate security, social services, judicial administration, and other government agencies, including military service.

Center Alignment: the image will fill the content column 100 percent.

Study Abroad

Each summer, faculty from SMU and Franklin conduct a USA-led study abroad program at Liverpool in Northwest England. Students will be housed in single occupancy rooms at the University of Liverpool, located in the city center and just a few blocks away from parks, restaurants, the waterfront, historical sites, and, of course, a soccer stadium. The program fee includes lodging, some meals, a trip to mountains and castles in Wales and a visit with the local police force.

"None" Alignment: If you don’t provide an alignment when you are using captions-- ie, set it to "none"-- you’ll end up with extra gray space next to your image, as seen in the below example:
